South Florida Luxury Home Sales on the Rise

Luxury ($1 million-and-up) home sales have been on the rise in South Florida since June, another sign of the region's robust recovery from COVID-19.

In Miami-Dade County, luxury single-family home sales jumped 15.2% year-over-year in July 2020 to 129 transactions. In Broward County, luxury single-family home jumped 32.1% year-over-year in June to 74 transactions and stayed even year-over-year in July 2020 at 85 sales.

In Palm Beach County, luxury single-family home transactions increased 105.3% year-over-year in July to 234 sales. Luxury condo transactions increased 51.4% year-over-year in July to 53 sales.

Record-low interest rates; a record-high S&P 500; the appeal of stable assets in a volatile economy; and work-from-home and remote-learning policies have all combined to create a robust market for luxury single-family properties.

Homes have been redefined in the pandemic. Our homes are not just places to live. It is where we work, go to school, exercise, cook, etc. If luxury home buyers are going to be stuck at home during COVID-19, they want to be stuck in a nice place that can serve many purposes.

Northerners moving to South Florida have helped accelerate the increase of luxury home sales.

New Yorkers migrating to Miami is an ongoing trend that has increased with COVID-19. South Florida boasts less-expensive real estate, lower taxes, quality of life offerings, etc.

The federal tax reform law passed on Dec. 22, 2017 established a new limit on the amount of state and local taxes (SALT) that can be deducted on a federal income tax return. Beginning in 2018, the itemized deduction for state and local taxes paid were capped at $10,000 per return for single filers, head of household filers, and married taxpayers filing jointly.

South Florida ranked No. 2 (behind New York-Newark-Jersey City) for where New Yorkers moved to escape coronavirus, according to mail-forwarding requests.
